Issue 1

The Military Center for Strategic Studies (Ce.Mi.S.S.) is an Italian Institute founded in 1987 that carries out strategic researches for the Italian Ministry of Defence.

It allows the access to knowledge tools and analytical methods that help in tackling current and future scenarios in support of the security and defence needs of the Italian Defence Services and of the national community in general.

Its mission is to play effectively an active cultural and scientific role, interacting with the relevant communities in order to shape a positive social environment vis-à-vis with opinion leaders and public opinion.

In particular the Center:

- carries out politico-military strategic studies and researches;
- develops the cooperation between the Italian Defence Services, Universities and Research Institutes or Government bodies (National & International);
- trains military and civilian researchers;
- promotes the specialization of young researchers in its areas of interest;
- publishes and circulates the most relevant studies.

The Ce.Mi.S.S. carries out its activities availing of civilian and military experts (Italian and foreigner), who enjoy academic freedom in their research.

Therefore, views expressed in the content of this volume are solely those of authors and not the position of the Italian MoD.
