

LEONARDO QUATTROCCHI

Over 35 years of experience in industry (mechanical, food, electronics, system engineering) in different roles up to top management;

Vice President of the Istituto Italiano di Navigazione (Italian Institute for Navigation) which is member of the International Association of Institutes of Navigation and of the European Group of Institutes of Navigation; Member of the Technical Advisory board of OSDIFE (Italian observatory for the exploration and development of scholarly knowledge associated with security and defense) Consulting for various companies for business innovation, marketing, strategy, commercial matters;

In 2010 I received from the President of the Italian Republic, the “Stella al Merito del Lavoro” (honorary decoration in recognition of work service)

In 2009 I received in the “Croce al Merito” (Cross of Merit) from the Italian National Fire Fighters Association;

Lecturer at various University and Master degree courses at Engineering Faculties (eg University of Rome II, University Campus Biomedico), in matters related to Marketing Intelligence and Competitive Intelligence.