

Giorgio Cuscito

Born in Rome, Italy. Birth date: 30/11/1987;
Editorial board member at Limes - Italian Review of Geopolitics; Analyst focused on China geopolitics; Contributor at Aspenia, AgiEnergia; Lecturer at Master Oltreillimes.

Previous Employments:

Junior Web Editor at Limes (January 2015 – August 2015)
Cartacanta, Limes Column for TvSvizzera.it (February 2014- August 2015);

Internship at Limes – Italian Geopolitical Review LIMES). (March 2013 – August 2013);

Internship as Marketing Assistant at Ducati Asia Pacific, (Shanghai, China) (September 2012 – December 2012);

Internship at Confartigianato Imprese (National Association of Small Enterprises and Handcrafts), Internationalization Department. (May 2012 - August 2012);

Foreign Languages: Mandarin Chinese at Confucius Institute in Rome for four years, achieving “advanced level”, “advanced conversation” and “business Chinese” certificate. English and Spanish fluent.

Academic Qualifications:

- Master in Economic Security, Geopolitics and Intelligence at Sioi (Italian Society for International Organization) (February 2013 – July 2013). The thesis is entitled “Past, present and future of Chinese intelligence”;
- In 2012 I got the Master’s Degree in “International Relations” at the Faculty of Political Science of LUISS Guido Carli with grade 110/110. The degree thesis is entitled “Hong Kong-Beijing: the future of democracy with Chinese characteristics”;

- In 2009 I took the Bachelor’s Degree at the Faculty of Political Science of “La Sapienza” University in Rome, with grade 106/110. My degree thesis was entitled “From China to Africa: Africa’s Silk Road”;
- In 2006 I graduated at “Orazio” High school (classical studies) with grade 100/100.

Awards: In 2011 I got the “LUISS Guido Carli Scholarship for thesis preparation abroad” to make research and interviews in Beijing and Hong Kong.