

Dan Smith is the Director of SIPRI. The Director participates in Governing Board meetings without voting rights. He has a long record of research and publication on a wide range of conflict and peace issues including such as the relationship between climate change and insecurity, peace and security issues in the Middle East, peacebuilding, the ethics of forcible intervention in conflicts, gender aspects of conflict and peacebuilding, and global conflict trends. Smith served four years in the UN Peacebuilding Fund Advisory group, two of which (2010–2011) were as Chair.

Smith has an intimate knowledge of how peacebuilding works (or doesn't) in a wide variety of countries and regions. He is also a renowned scholar and analyst. He was part-time Professor of Peace and Conflict at the University of Manchester, attached to the Humanitarian and Conflict Response Institute from January 2014 to mid-2017 and continues with an Honorary Professorship today. He is the author of successive editions of atlases of politics, war and peace, and the Middle East and blogs on international politics at www.dansmithsblog.com.

He has lived most of his adult life in the UK with a 10-year spell in Norway. He has travelled professionally to more than 60 countries.

SUBJECT EXPERTISE

Wide range of conflict and peace issues such as nationalism, identity politics, armed conflicts, ethics of intervention, gender aspects of conflict and peace building, relationship between climate change and insecurity

REGIONAL EXPERTISE

Middle East, Africa

CONTACT Dan Smith

LANGUAGES

English, French

EDUCATION

Christ's College, Cambridge; BA June 1973 (MA January 1977)
English Literature

CITIZENSHIP

United Kingdom

AFFILIATIONS

Chair, Advisory Group, UN Peacebuilding Fund, 2010–11

Member, Advisory Group, UN Peacebuilding Fund, 2007–9

Chair, Institute for War & Peace Reporting, London, 1992–2006

SIPRI COMMENTARY

The US withdrawal from the Iran deal: One year on (Expert comment, May 2019)

Climate Security in times of geopolitical crises—what ways forward? (Blog, February 2019)

The crumbling architecture of arms control (Essay, October 2018)

North Korea and the US: are there ways out? (Blog, November 2017)

European security in its winter of discontent (Blog, February 2017)

SIPRI AND PARTNER PUBLICATIONS

Krampe, F., van de Goor, L., Barnhoorn, B., Smith E. and Smith, D., Water Security and Governance in the Horn of Africa (SIPRI, Stockholm: March 2020)

Smith, D., Mobjörk, M., Krampe, F. et al, Climate Security: Making it #Doable (Clingendael and SIPRI: February 2019)

Delgado, C., Jang, S., Milante, G. and Smith, D., The World Food Programme's Contribution to Improving the Prospects for Peace (SIPRI, Stockholm: June 2019)

Mobjörk, M. and Smith, D., Translating Climate Security Policy into Practice (Clingendael and SIPRI: March 2017)

Mobjörk, M., Smith, D. and Rüttinger, L., Towards a Global Resilience Agenda: Action on Climate Fragility Risks (Clingendael, adelphi and SIPRI: December 2016)

1. Introduction. International stability and human security in 2018 (Chapter, SIPRI Yearbook 2019)

1. Introduction. International stability and human security in 2017 (Chapter, SIPRI Yearbook 2018)

1. Introduction. International security, armaments and disarmament (Chapter, SIPRI Yearbook 2016)

3. Armed conflict and instability in the Middle East and North Africa (Chapter, SIPRI Yearbook 2017)

1. Introduction. International security, armament and disarmament (Chapter, SIPRI Yearbook 2017)

EXTERNAL PUBLICATIONS

Smith, D. and Krampe, F., Climate-Related Security Risks in the Middle East, in Anders Jägerskog, Michael Schulz, and Ashok Swain (eds.) Routledge Handbook on Middle East Security, London: Routledge (2019)

Smith, D., The State of the Middle East, 3rd, New Internationalist (2016); (2nd edn 2008: London, Earthscan; Berkeley/LA, UC California Press) (1st edition 2006)

Vivekananda J., Schilling J. and Smith D., 'Understanding Resilience in Climate Change and Conflict Affected Regions of Nepal', Geopolitics (2014)

Vivekananda J., Schilling J. and Smith D., 'Climate resilience in fragile and conflict-affected societies: concepts and approaches', Development in Practice, 24:4, 487-501(2014)

Smith, D., The State of the World Atlas (9th edition 2013: Oxford, New Internationalist; New York, Penguin) (8th edn 2008; 7th edn 2003)

EMAIL NEWSLETTER

Subscribe to receive SIPRI updates

ALICE RICCARDI

Research Fellow of International Law at Roma Tre International University, dr. Riccardi research interests focus on International Criminal Law, International Human Rights Law, International Humanitarian Law and International Disaster Law. She holds a PhD summa cum laude from the Sant'Anna School of Advanced Studies of Pisa, where she defended a thesis entitled "Rationales of Sentencing in International Criminal Law: In Search for Consistency". She gained significant experience in teaching to first degree and master students; and in training activities for organizations such as: Italian Ministry of Defence, Italian Red Cross, Italian Centre of High Studies of the Ministry of Defence and the International Institute of International Humanitarian Law. She has been the rapporteur and co-rapporteur of Reports relevant for International and European Disaster Law. In the context of IEUDL, dr. Riccardi will be responsible for teaching one case study and tutoring students.