

- Ugo Tramballi, born in Milano on Feb. 19, 1954. From 1976 Metropolitan news section of "Il Giornale". From 1983 to '87 Middle East correspondent in Beirut: war correspondences from Lebanon, Iran, Iraq and Afghanistan. Extensive coverages in India and Pakistan. From 1987 to '91 Moscow correspondent.
- From 1991 Global Correspondent and columnist with the Italian Economic newspaper "Il Sole 24 Ore". Middle East peace process, India's Economic reforms, South Africa transition to democracy, China rise and Hong Kong handover, impact of globalization on World Politics, the World after 9/11, Civil uprising in Middle East, crisis in the Western World and rise of populism.
- Senior Advisor and Head of India Program Istituto Studi Politica Internazionale, ISPI, Milano. Member of Istituto Affari Internazionali, IAI, Rome, and Centro per la Pace in Medio Oriente, CIPMO, Milano; World Economic Forum's Media Leader.
- Books: "Inside India" (1988), "The Day Winter Is Over: Russia After Eltsin" (1999), "The Stones and the Olive Trees – A History of Palestine" (2002), "Israel – The Incomplete Dream", (2008). "Mother India" (2020).
- Since 2011 "Slow News", Ugo Tramballi's blog on International Affairs.
<http://ugotramballi.blog.ilsole24ore.com/>